A Democratic mass meeting was held on the old square Saturday night a peradventure.

in a first class bakery, constantly on hand.

Drowned in the River.—Yesterday about eleven o'clock Michael Devine, a son of Mr. George Devine, who lives east of the depot, with several other young men went to the river to bathe at a point near the Indianapolis, Decatur & Springfield railroad bridge. Young Devine, who was unable to swim, got in beyond his depth, and his comrades seeing that he was likely to drown went to his relief, and managed to get him on to the trunk of a fallen tree, that in the present high stage of water is some distance from the shore. Had he held to the tree until those with him could have passed poles to him by which to help him to land, he might have been rescued, but in the excitement of the moment he let go his hold upon the tree, and as the water was over his head, the again went under and floated down with the current, appearing occasionally for the surface, but finally disappearing entirely.

The alarm was given as soon as one of the boys with him came to town, and Marshal Haworth and some others responded to the scene of the accident. Every effort was made by diving and other means to recover the body, but up to seven o'clock last evening no trace of it could be obtained, and the search was abandoned for the night. Efforts to find the body were resumed this morning, which up to this time have been fruitless.

J. P. Marsh still continues to manufacture boots and shoes to order, and guarantees fits to all who may patronize him. Being a first-class workman himself, and employing only the best of journeymen, he turns out no second-

Mr. Marsh has won high favor as a

THE LATE J. G. WHITE.

The death of Joseph G. White, which occurred yesterday, is an event that was not unlooked for. During the past five or six years he has been visibly failing, and for a twelvemonth has been only a wreck of his former self. He was, during the greater part of his life, one of the most vigorous and hardy of men, but a fall from his buggy some six years ago proved to be a shock from which he never fully recovered, and his most in-imate friends are of the opinion that his mind was thereby injured to such an extent that he was never the same man afterwards.

Joseph G. White was born at Winchester, Va., February 14, 1799. When quite young he removed to Bainbridge, Ross county, Ohio, where, on the 27th of November, 1822, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Ann Platter, who died in this city in March, 1873. The active years of his life were spent in Ohio, where he was engaged in business that proved quite successful. In 1855 he removed with his family to Decatur, which was his residence during the remainder of his life.

Of the eight children born to him—one son and seven daughters—four daughters have preceded him to the grave. One of them was the wife of Senator R. J. Oglesby, and died at the executive mansion in Springfield during the gubernatorial term of her husband, in May, 1868. Two of the remaining daughters, Mrs. J. L. Fenton and Mrs.
F. L. Hays, reside here.

Mr. White was in many respects a very remarkable man—warm-hearted and impulsive in his nature, and devo-tely attached to his family and friends.

He had many admirable traits of character, and his death will be sincerely mourned.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon, from the residence of J. L. Fenton.

The Thing to be Stopped.—For some time past there have been numerous and bitter complaints of disorderly conduct on Sundays, originating in a saloon kept near the southern limits of the city, by one Reinhardt, which was kept open on Sunday, and had become the resort of all sorts of disreputable characters.

These complaints having come to the ears of Mayor Chambers, on yesterday he took a policeman and went to the house where he ordered the keeper to be arrested, and the house closed. This morning Reinhardt appeared before Justice Albert and, pleading guilty to the charge of keeping open tipping house on Sunday, and was fined twenty-five dollars. The Mayor assured him that if the offense was repeated the law would be vigorously enforced, and its severest penalties inflicted.

A Chinaman in Town.—On Friday of last week a genuine Chinaman was in town, with a view to opening a laundry, but failing to find a room which could be obtained at a rent which he could afford to pay, he left without effecting arrangements for going into business here. We tried to ascertain his name but could find nobody who could pronounce it. For the accommodation of our readers we will write it, "thushy." Hohang kihang Abihokemi, and leave everybody to call it what they please.

The man could speak but little English, and it was with difficulty that he could make himself understood. He dined at Charley Drohn's.

Church Dedication.—The Whitmore Union Church building, situated near Mr. Kuddock's, which has been in process of construction for the last few months, is now completed, and will be dedicated on Sunday, July 16th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. The sermon will be preached by Bishop Dickson, of the U.
B. Church.

Funeral Obsequies.—The funeral services of Master Attie L. Priest took place as notified, at Priest's Hotel on Saturday afternoon. The attendance was very large, and the services, conducted by Elder J. W. Tyler, were deeply solemn and impressive. At the conclusion of the ceremonies at the house, the body was taken to the family lot in Greenwood Cemetery for interment, whither it was followed by a large number of sympathizing friends.

THE CHURCHES YESTERDAY.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
Rev. A. W. Clover, of Kansas City, preached at the Presbyterian church, taking for his text in the evening the words in Proverbs "The path of the just is as the shining light, shining more and more unto the perfect day."

By way of introduction the speaker explained the terms "light" and "path," and indicated their meaning in connection with christian life. He then showed that the advance in christian life found an analogy in almost everything in nature. This thought was well illustrated by pertinent figures and facts, following there was an earnest appeal to the congregation to ascertain whether they were walking in the path that is growing brighter and brighter unto the perfect day. Mr. Clover is an easy, fluent speaker, and many passages of his sermon last evening were truly eloquent.

Robbery in a Hell-hole.—Yesterday afternoon, a man who is a stranger in town and is stopping at the St. Nicholas hotel, was invited by some one to take a walk. The person by whom the invitation was given, took the man to one of the dens near the brewery, which are kept open on Sundays as well as week days. Here the gentleman in question bought ten cigars and treated his guide to a smoke. In paying for the cigars he took out a two dollar bill, and while the person in the bar was making change he laid his pocketbook upon the counter awaiting the change from the hands of the bar keeper. While the change was being made, a fellow in the room stepped up and snatched the pocket book from the counter, slipping it into his pocket.

When the man missed his wallet, the person behind the bar pointed out the fellow who had taken it, and the latter had not taken his pocket book and stepped out at the door, where he was followed by the man who lost the money, who again asked for the return of the wallet and its contents. Whereupon the thief said that the man, who was asking the return of his money, was a liar in saying that he had taken it, and also struck him in the mouth. The robbed man then seized hold of the fellow who had stolen his money and a lively tussle ensued, when some accomplice of the robber struck or kicked the man in the back of the head rendering him momentarily senseless, and when he came to himself the fellow had disappeared. He at once came up to town and notified Marshal Haworth of what had happened. He said he should know the man who took his money if he should see him, and is on the lookout for him. We understand that this is not the only robbery which has been committed at these dens within a short time.

Mowing Extraordinary.—Yesterday forenoon, a colored man by the name of John Monroe, got into a difficulty with another gentleman of color by the name of Young. As we understand it there was a vigorous shooting off of mouths on both sides, in which line of warfare Young was getting the best of it, when his antagonist determined not to be vanquished, seizing a scythe and acting upon the scriptural doctrine "All flesh is as grass," proceeded in an attempt to mow Young down. The latter concluding that he was not quite ripe enough to harvest, objected to being then and there made to "with like grass," and with the aid of bystanders succeeded in wresting the scythe from Monroe. The next thing on the programme was to procure a warrant for the latter's arrest, upon which he was brought before Justice Albert, where a fine of ten dollars was assessed, which with costs aggregated about fifteen dollars. It so happened that Monroe's pocket-book was in a state of depletion, and the calaboose was to receive him. The abridgment of his liberty was an idea most horrible to the offender, and he pleaded lustily with the "Squire" and Marshal Haworth who made the arrest, to be allowed to work and earn money with which to liquidate his fine, promising solemnly to devote every dollar he could earn to that object until all was paid. The court finally acceded to his request and he went his way rejoicing, at the same time promising to behave himself "like a little man."

OBITUARY.

DIED.—At her husband's residence, in this city, on the morning of July 9th, Mrs. Annie B. Moore, wife of Dr. E. W.
Moore, aged about 43 years. Mrs. Moore came to this city with her husband from the state of Pennsylvania twenty years ago and has resided here ever since.

During her residence here and for some time before, she had been a worthy member of the M. E. Church, and examplified the principles of the christian religion by a consistent life.

She was never strong physically, but had for the most part been able to superintend her household affairs up to the time of being taken down in her last sickness which occurred about three months ago. Since that time, she has suffered much, but has borne her af-liction with great patience and resignation.

At times she seemed to rally, and hopes were entertained that she would finally recover; but a few days since there seemed to be change for the worse after which she failed gradually until death came to her relief. She leaves a husband and one daughter who will have the sympathy of the community in their sole bereavement.

The funeral will take place at the First M. E. church, on Wednesday at 2 p. m.
